Student hearing reset by Hancock Board

By BRENT MACEY
The Hancock County School Board Saturday upheld a recommendation of Hancock North Central Senior High Principal Donald Hillman to expell a student from HNC.
Hillman refused to comment on the nature of the student's offense.
A hearing for the student was reset to Nov. 28 at 9 a.m. because he failed to attend Saturday's meeting.

District One representative Oris Ladner and District Three representative Louie Ladner also were absent from the meeting.
Board President Woodrow Ladner of District Four and Monvel Cuevas of District Two supported the motion to uphold the principal's expulsion recommendation.

Johnny Banks of District Five voted no.

The board retreated behind closed doors of executive session for some two hours with Roland Ladner, mathematics teacher and basketball coach at Hancock North Central.
The board members and Ladner refused to comment on the nature of the session.

The board postponed approval of the October claims docket until its Nov. 28 meeting.

'No comment' from Frierson

Four Hancock justices back abolishment of fee system

By ELLIS CUEVAS
Four out of five Hancock Justice Court judges are in favor of the abolishment of the fee system. A fifth judge, Horation Frierson, had 'no comment' when asked his feeling.
District Three Judge Lloyd Anderson, in his fifth year of service, said his annual salary has ranged from a low of $5,000 up to $39,000.
Anderson said, "When I was making a big salary on the fee system, I was not for the change. At that time, deep down I knew it was wrong and knew that some day the payment of the judges would be changed."

Anderson's income began to drop when State Highway Patrolman Raybourn Silkwood was transferred to a desk job.

The highway patrolman was eventually fired by the Patrol.

District One Justice Court Judge Lee Klein reported, "Under the current system I will not seek re-election. The only way I would even consider seeking re-election is if some drastic changes are made."

Klein added, "Judges should be placed on a salary, there is no doubt in my mind, it would remove the stigma that has been placed on the system."

Justice Court judges now receive $10 per case from a previous $6 which was changed last year.

Klein recalled, "I went on record with Representative J. P. Compretta that I was not in favor of the change upping the Judge's fee to $10 per case."

The District One Judge noted that the $10 change went into effect just as the speed limit was reduced to 55 miles per hour, and it helped increase the income of judges.

For six years Klein said his salary averaged $7,500 and then the fee increased and speed limit reduced kicking his salary up to $39,000 as justice court judge, for one year.

Klein remembered, "The Highway Patrol was pressured writing tickets because the federal people threatened to cut off federal highway funds."

"A patrolman could very easily write 1,000 tickets a month in Hancock for speed violators. Far too many motorists travel over 55 mph on our highways," Klein commented.

District Five Judge John Chevis stated, "I think it is coming to a salary structure for Justice Court judges. It is so unfair, the way some judges are starving to death and a few are getting rich."

District Four Judge Bruce Necaise, like Chevis, is serving his first year and reported that his high month in salary has been $1,530 one month to a low of $270 for his lowest income for a month.

Necaise said, "I have had only one good month in pay. It is hard to set yourself a budget when you do not know how much you are going to have as income. I am in favor of Justice Court Judges going on a salary if it is sufficient."

"One thing people fail to realize is that this is a 24-hour-a-day, seven day-a-week job. We have to maintain an office and utilities and all these expenses continue each month, something should be done," Necaise allowed.

One area all the judges in favor of a salary expressed concern over was the availability of a magistrate if they were placed on a salary.

No one seemed to know how the new system should be set up, or how many for each county.

Chevis commented, "It would be unfair for say Harrison County to have five judges and a small county like Stone five."

Anderson felt there is a need of someone to possibly handle the money, some type of a clerk for all the judges, to take care of the paper work.

"A judge has to be a bookkeeper as well as judge," Anderson stated.

Anderson said, a survey taken of the justice court judges in the state indicate that 86 percent are in favor of a salary instead of a fee system.

"The way it now works, a law officer can get mad at a justice court judge and not send him any tickets," Anderson

Waveland tables Middletown bids

By BRENT MACEY

The Waveland Board of Aldermen opened bids for rehabilitation of homes in the Middletown area by John Hayward of Waveland, Lad's Construction of Waveland and Keeler's Custom Builders of Gulfport Wednesday night.

Homes to be rehabilitated include those of Willie Harrington Jr., Steve Summers, Edna Summers, Phyllis Marie Antoine and Milton Inch.

The bids will be taken under advisement by the board's engineer, Lewis Eaton from Jackson.

Neville Jacob of Hancock Community Cable Company in Waveland is on the board of a National League of Cities Congress of Cities convention in Atlanta, Georgia, December 1, 2, 3.

The program will be aired on Channel 4, 11 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. central time. Robert A. Clark and Ethel Weaver from the American Red Cross, asked the board for a donation to the Hancock Chapter of the American Red Cross.

According to Clark, disaster service co-chairman and field representative for the Hancock County chapter, "Our chapter will be as good as Hancock County can afford it to be."

Clark said the chapter backs up fire and police departments in Hancock County.

"We offer the firemen coffee and cokes at fires, plus we put people up whose houses have been burned."

"We also provide them with clothing and food."

"As it is now," Clark said, "We can only afford to put people up one night. After that we have to refer them to another agency."

"We really cannot even afford to give them any clothing."

Clark said the chapter did not have the vehicles and equipment needed to handle a large scale disaster.

"In the case of a disaster involving more than five residents in Hancock County, we have to call in the National

Waveland couple killed in car-truck accident

By WAYNE DUCOMB JR.

A car-truck accident on US-90 in Waveland early Friday morning killed a local couple and injured a woman.

The incident is the first fatal traffic accident in the City of Waveland this year and the third accident causing injury on US-90 in the last two weeks.

Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn reported later Friday morning Gerald D. Hansen, 51, and Lois Leal Hansen, 56, both of No. 1 Bienville Drive in Waveland were killed in the 12:40 a.m. accident.

Hancock County Coroner Carl Banderet said Friday afternoon the couple was killed instantly.

A Gulfport Memorial Hospital spokesman stated Friday afternoon Patricia Lyons, 45, also of No. 1 Bienville Drive, was in the Intensive Care Unit in stable condition with possible internal injuries.

Dorn said the Hansen's were passengers in a mid-size car driven by Lyons traveling south on Hwy. 903. The car was crossing the US-90 intersection when the auto was struck by a delivery truck.

"A witness stated that this vehicle (the Lyons' car) continued through the intersection without stopping for the flashing red light," the chief explained.

Dorn reported a Times Picayune—States Item truck driven by Carroll Hebert, 59, of 3742 Pontiac St. in New Orleans, was traveling east on US-90 when it struck the auto.

"Hebert did not sustain any injuries," Dorn said.

Banderet reported the truck pushed the car to the entrance of a corner gasoline station within a few feet of the station's pumps.

"It was a large truck loaded with newspapers," the coroner added.

The police chief said, "The Jaws of Life were used to remove the victims from the Lyons' vehicle."

Dorn noted the traffic light in that intersection begins blinking red on Hwy. 603 and amber on US-90 at 10 p.m. through the early morning hours.

"The Highway Department should place those lights on full red and green operation 24 hours a day. That's too busy an intersection. It would be worth it to operate that light at its full capability all the time if you can save one life," the police chief stated.

Dorn said no charges have been filed against anyone involved in the accident.

Interim Administrator Lamar Brooks of Hancock General Hospital in Bay St. Louis stated Lyons was transferred to Gulfport Memorial with multiple fractures and lacerations after being treated for a laceration over an eye.

Local officials said the deceased couple had recently moved to this area from California. Gerald Hansen was an architect.

Lyons is reportedly the deceased architect's secretary.

Responding to the accident were Waveland Patrolman John Wilkerson, the Hancock County Sheriff's Department, the Waveland Fire Department, Mobile Medics, Banderet and N.A. Pernicelli and Son Wrecker Service.

Correction

In a Thursday Sea Coast Echo report on a Wednesday traffic accident at the intersection of US-90 and McLaurin Street in Waveland, Waveland Police Investigator Robert (Poochie) Tartavouille was inadvertently misquoted on details of the incident.

A Waveland Police Department report of the accident shows, in fact, that Brian P. Pittman, 21, of Bay St. Louis was driving west on US-90 when Vernel C. Hoda, 37, of Route 1, Box 380, Pass Christian, driving south on McLaurin Street apparently failed to yield the right-of-way at the intersection and his vehicle was struck by the Pittman car.

Hoda was cited by Officer Chuck James with failure to yield right-of-way. Mrs. Vera Pittman, passenger in the Pittman vehicle, sustained 'closed head injuries and multiple abrasions' in the accident and was reported in stable condition at Gulfport Memorial Hospital.

The Echo apologizes for these errors.

Cheryl Campbell portrays Vera Brittain. The story begins with Vera persuading her parents that she has as much right as her brother to enter Oxford. The story continues through the war that took the lives of her fiancé, her brother and two of her best-loved friends. It concludes when she meets the man she was to marry in 1925, and as she slowly begins to rebuild the life the war had shattered.

Mississippi ETV's yearly favorite, "Hanukkah" with Edward Asner, will be rebroadcast this Hanukkah season at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, December 2, on the statewide Mississippi ETV Network. The program describes and celebrates the ancient Jewish midwinter festival, "The Festival of Lights." Celebrated every year in November or December, Hanukkah recalls the bravery, tenacity and historical circumstance—some call it miracle—that permitted the ancient Israelites more than 2,000 years ago to preserve their freedom and with it the spiritual source from which Judaism draws its meaning. Asner explores the historical basis for the holiday, and graphics from a variety of eras and artists

MISSISSIPPI MARKET NEWS

PECAN NEWS
SOUTHEAST (FL-GA-MS) — Trading was active in the Southeast for fairly light offerings. Rain during the latter part of the previous week caused supplies to be limited for the first part of the current week.

Demand was good for large size nuts and moderate for others.

Large size pecans were priced well above smaller size pecans in most cases although demand was good for large lots of seedlings. Most movement was to the gift pack and mail order trade as large shellers were not actively buying.

Prices paid to growers at southeastern buyers' delivery points per pound for stunts in lots less than 5,000 lbs. were mostly .90-1.05, small size mostly .75-.90. Lots of 5,000 lbs. or more were 2.05-1.15, small size were mostly .90-1.00. Natives in lots of less than 5,000 lbs. ranged from .55-.70 and occasional higher.

LOUISIANA — Supplies of pecans were very light as the season was just getting underway. Most of the state had only limited cold weather and nut drop was light. Quality of the first offerings was generally good.

TEXAS — Trading was slow as very few pecans were moving. A few improved varieties were available mostly from the South. The very light crop along the coastal regions was nearly eliminated due to varmits such as crows and squirrels. Demand was good for limited offering.

Sales represent small volume. Prices paid to growers at Texas buyers' delivery points for lots of less than 1,000 lbs. were mostly .50-.55 cents for natives and 1.00-1.20 for improved varieties.

OKLAHOMA — Very little trading activity although some 10-15 percent of the crop was estimated harvested. There had been no significant cold weather in most of the pecan areas of Oklahoma. Foliage was still green and nut crop was light. There was little "backyard" supplies expected to be available this year. Most production for the state is anticipated for commercial operations.

NORTH AND SOUTH CAROLINA — Very light movement with no sales reported. Supplies expected to begin increasing, weather permitting. Low temperatures and winds would be beneficial as the present level of nut drop very light.

NEW MEXICO — No significant movement expected from New Mexico for a couple of weeks.

Bits 'n pieces

We have heard and read all different types of reports about the Great American Smoke-out which was held Thursday. Some say it was success, while others say it was not, so it really is hard to know whom to believe.

If we had anything to do with it, there would be a permanent smoke-out, ban cigarettes, pipes and all types of tobacco.

That will never happen, as we are aware of how many folks use tobacco, but it sure is hard for non smokers, especially those with colds and sinus problems.

We know, we smoked up our share in earlier years.

The place of beauty in Bay St. Louis now is the grounds of the Bay St. Louis City Hall.

The many colors of mums are outstanding with the lovely cared-for lawn in background.

We think Bay St. Louis Mayor Larry Bennett and the persons responsible for such a lovely, cared-for garden should be commended.

The Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's retail chairman, Pat Murphy Jr., has sent out a letter encouraging merchants to participate in an endeavour to provide a large prize for some lucky Hancock shopper.

To us it seems a good way to help keep our people at home to do their Christmas shopping.

We hope the project is successful, for we feel our local shoppers and merchants will reap a mutual advantage from the promotion.

In looking at a consumer's advantage of shopping at home, the amount of gas money saved on is tremendous when you consider gas at least $1.25 per gallon.

There are not many things a person can not find right here in Hancock County with our wide range of merchandise offered by our merchants.

Cataract Surgery Restores Vision

Cataract is the loss of transparency of the lens of the eye.

Contrary to popular belief, says a booklet from the American Medical Association, a cataract is not a growth or covering on the outside of the eyeball. It is, in a sense, a dense concentration of abnormal fibers in the lens.

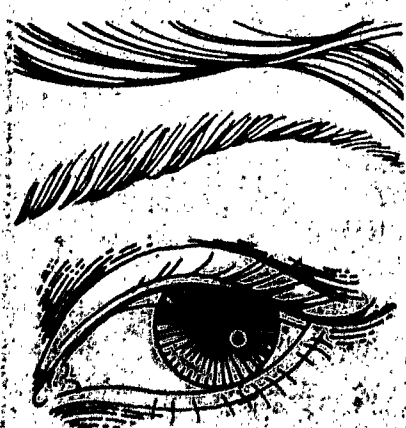

Though the condition is generally hereditary and develops with age, other conditions may precipitate it. Damage due to severe injuries, eye infections, electric shock, excessive exposure to X-rays, poisoning, endocrine gland disturbances, diabetes, viral infections before birth and other less common causes also can result in cataract.

Cataract is actually one of the least serious disorders that cause failing eyesight, and surgery to restore visual function is more than 95 per cent successful. Even though cataract affects both eyes, often vision will be better in one eye. Surgery usually is not performed until vision is impaired.

The operation for cataract is fairly simple and takes only about an hour, but requires skill on the part of the surgeon. After the patient's eye is anesthetized, an opening is made in the upper part of the eye where the cornea and white of the eye meet. The cataract is grasped and carefully removed from the eye with a forceps, a suction cup or a freezing instrument. Many tiny stitches are made to close the incision.

With a successful operation, the patient may move around and care for himself immediately afterwards. A hospital stay may last from two or three days to one week.

TRACES OF DEADLY ACCIDENT—A store clothing box and shattered glass were the only signs left Friday morning of a car-truck accident which occurred several hours earlier at the intersection of US-90 and Hwy. 603 in Waveland. The incident claimed the lives of a middle-aged Waveland couple and seriously injured a woman also in the car after a truck broadsided the mid-size auto. Waveland Police Chief Donald Dorn said the accident occurred when the traffic light at that intersection was blinking as a warning light. The Echo joins the police chief in an appeal to the State Highway Department to keep the red-green cycle on 24 hours a day which might help save lives at this dangerous intersection.

The Bottom Line

Candid Answers To Your Questions
About Advertising and Business Topics.

By S. GALE DENLEY
Associate Professor of Journalism
University of Mississippi

I read somewhere a while back that Americans are getting fed up with advertising. The extent it may be in trouble. I agree with some of the criticisms, but a friend with the local newspaper told me I probably couldn't afford to buy the paper without the advertising. Is This On The Level?

Dear ITOTL: Your concern about the cost to readers, listeners and viewers, if there were no advertising is a very real one.

I personally feel that all too often we fail to properly appreciate the benefits we enjoy because of business expenditures for advertising in bona fide media, rather than in alternative vehicles.

To be sure the advertiser benefits, but we, as consumers, and consumers of the media, also benefit from lower prices for the latest technology in products, as well as affordable media offerings.

To be sure there are abuses in advertising—some take advantage of the latitude afforded by "first amendment rights" and the attitude of "let the buyer beware."

But you have a perfect antidote for ads to which you react negatively for whatever reason—don't buy the product. It's just like an election. If enough other consumers agree with you the message will get through. And this can have more impact on advertising than all of the Federal Trade Commission rules on truth in advertising combined.

A recent study of advertising found that most dissatisfaction comes from a lack of belief that the claim being made is true. It also found that fewer positive statements were made about advertising than were made ten years previously. Not as many people said advertising results in better goods, lower price or a higher standard of living.

There was also an increase in the number of persons who said that advertising insults the intelligence of the buyer and makes him buy things he doesn't need. (I'm sure what they meant was: "It insults my intelligence, and leads those less intelligent than me to buy things they don't need.")

However, an overwhelming majority of the survey sample endorsed advertising as an essential institution in the U.S. economic system.

Most were not satisfied with advertising, citing a lack of belief in many claims, but had the attitude of "let's fix it," rather than "let's do away with it."

One bright spot for newspapers and most retailers was that the public was found to be most favorable to the ads they saw in the print media.

They were less favorable about ads in the electronic media and negative attitudes towards outdoor and direct mail.

Washington Report

By Congressman Trent Lott
5th District, Mississippi

A $13.4 million contract for continued development of the Mississippi Army Ammunition Manufacturing Plant in Hancock County has been awarded by the U.S. Army, according to Congressman Trent Lott, R-Miss. Lott said he was notified that the contract went to Castle Construction Company, of Montgomery, Alabama, for construction of a cargo metal parts manufacturing facility at the plant.

The metal parts facility is one of three main complexes at the plant, which is designed to produce advanced 155 mm artillery ammunition.

The other two are the projectile metal parts area, for which a $53.3 million contract was awarded in February; and the load, assemble and pack area, for which a $27.7 million contract was awarded in May.

The ammunition plant is the first to be built in the United States since World War II. Ground was broken in January, 1976, for the plant which when fully operational is expected to generate an annual payroll of more than $53.3 million.

MISSISSIPPI

CONSUMER REPORT

Office of Bill Allain, Attorney General

PYRAMID SCHEME

Attorney General Bill Allain warns Mississippians that pyramid sales schemes are once again surfacing in Mississippi and that all consumers should be extremely careful when investing their hard earned money, especially in large amounts.

"Some complaints recently received required an initial payment of $5,000.00 but with promises of tremendous profits within a short time," Allain said.

This is a familiar pitch you might get if you attend an "opportunity meeting" or meetings with other catching names promoted by pyramid franchise sellers. Initially, promoters engaged in pyramid franchising tell potential investors that there is a product to be sold. However, eventually it is made abundantly clear that the real money is in recruiting other investors into the scheme.

Such schemes are illegal under Mississippi Law as provided in Section 75-24-51 of the Consumer Protection Act of 1974. Why are such schemes illegal?

The answer is that by its very makeup, large numbers of consumers must lose money.

Suppose, at the beginning, the promoters bring five investors into the scheme. If each of these five recruits five more people, then the total number of those allowed to recruit would be twenty five, and then one hundred twenty five, and so the arithmetic progression goes on. Soon, in order for all those who participate to make money, thousands and even millions of people would have to be recruited.

Those who get in late - that's most investors - find it impossible to recruit enough new investors to break even.

Allain advises that you should avoid any investment that even resembles a pyramid franchise scheme.

(1) Never invest in any company whose primary profit making scheme is the recruiting of others.

(2) Never sign any papers of any kind while attending a promotional meeting. Always take time to think the deal over at home, away from the salesman.

(3) Never invest in a product for resale without knowing the territories you are being offered. Assess the potential for profit before investing.

(4) Never make any major investment without first consulting an attorney.

If you are contacted by what you to believe is a pyramid sales scheme, contact the Consumer Protection Division of the Attorney General's Office at P. O. Box 220, Jackson, Mississippi 39205 or call (601) 961-4244.

NEWS

CITIZEN INVOLVEMENT

The Mississippi Economic Council reports its Board of Directors is meeting in Jackson this week to conduct affairs of the state's largest business and professional organization.

The MEC and its Board of Directors are tangible examples of one of this country's founding principles - active citizen participation in government.

The Council's Board is composed of some 90 members from various business and professional interests, ranging in size from the state's largest employer to independent shop owners. Board members represent every geographic region of the state.

Through such diverse backgrounds and interests, through the work of committees composed of some 600 civic-minded MEC members, and through an outstanding history of service to Mississippi, the MEC and its members serve as "the voice of business" in Mississippi.

This week the Council's Board will consider reports related to education, taxation, local government finance and administration, the needs of small business, energy research, and transportation needs in Mississippi.

The fact that the Board's agenda is not totally composed of items directly related to profits or what some may consider vested interests for business is an indication of the Council's commitment to this state.

An old adage states, "The only thing necessary for evil to triumph is for good men to do nothing."

Obviously, the 3,000 MEC members and its 90-member Board of Directors are doing something to make Mississippi a better place in which to work and live.

International economist Dr. Stuart Bruchey will address the luncheon meeting of the board today. Dr. Bruchey, the Allan Nevins Professor of American Economic History at Columbia University, will be in the state as a guest of MEC's American Enterprise Center, a clearinghouse for economic education.

Prior to the luncheon, according to MEC Chairman Lewis F. Mallory, Jr., the Council's Board of Directors will consider various committee reports on areas of interest to Mississippians. Report topics include teacher training and certification; management and supervisory training programs; the needs of small business; and costs of workers' compensation, unemployment compensation, and Social Security to Mississippi business.

"Dr. Bruchey is one of the nation's foremost economists and we are honored to have him visit Mississippi and speak to the MEC Board," said Mallory. After the luncheon address, Dr. Bruchey will consult with directors of university and college Centers for Economic Education - a part of the AEC - and take part in a panel discussion on the American enterprise system. The discussion will be video taped at Mississippi College and made available through the AEC to colleges, universities, civic groups and other interested groups, according to Mallory.

Friday, Dr. Bruchey will address a group of students and business leaders at the University of Mississippi in Oxford.

Reports to be considered by the MEC Board of Directors are the result of work over the past several months by MEC committees.

Bay, Hancock, Pass schools share in federal impact pie

A total of 17 school districts, including the Bay St. Louis, Hancock and Pass Christian systems, in South Mississippi will receive more than $1.4 million in federal impact aid funds, according to Congressman Trent Lott.

Lott said he was notified that the funds had been certified for immediate payment by federal education officials and that they cover fiscal year 1981.

The program authorizes financial assistance for schools in federally affected areas.

The list of payments made includes: Bay St. Louis, $7,997; Biloxi, $1,128,527; Forrest County, $628; Gulfport, $66,998; Hancock County, $9,914; Harrison County, $68,858; Jackson County, $25,062; Laurel, $8,603; and Long Beach, $34,380.

Other districts include Lumberton, $2,599; Moss Point, $5,943; Ocean Springs, $30,249; Pascagoula, $15,902; Pass Christian, $6,043; Perry County, $2,436; Picayune, $15,855; and Richton, $748.

The amounts certified for payment are determined from the tentative entitlement for the fiscal year computed on the basis of information contained in each district's application.

Anderson continued, "When a person tells you that you won't get no more tickets from the Highway Patrol and you don't get them, things do not add up."

A bill failed to pass last year that would have changed the salary structure of judges. There is a Justice Court Judges Association in the state and Anderson said he hoped they all would work together to pass a new law.

Anderson thinks the system is not proper now in saying, "The fee system is out-of-date and the only way to uphold the symbol of justice is to change the system to salary."

Anderson continued, "By putting the judges on a salary, we could:

1. Cut out rumors about pay-offs to law officers.
2. Help return respect to the judge's office and law officials.
3. Eliminate rumors, jealousy and friction among the others.

Klein said he was not in favor of attorneys being the only one qualified to hold the position.

The District One judge said, "I am not in favor of an attorney being the only person qualified to hold the position, because it will remove the position from the people and make it available to only a select few."

All judges favor strengthening requirements for the post, with additional seminars. Currently a person must have at least a high school education in order to seek the office of Justice Court judge.

Anderson allowed, "The people cannot afford to be without the Justice Court system because it is convenient to the public to take care of all problems dealing with civil and criminal matters."

Anderson indicated he was going to do everything he could in order to have the system changed.

Weaver, first vice chairman and head of the membership drive, said that the chapter is currently sharing quarters with the civil defense.

"The main thing we want is to get a place for the Red Cross, Weaver said. Mayor John Longo said that the city of Waveland had donated in the past to the National Red Cross.

He told the Red Cross representatives they should come to city budget hearings in June.

The board moved to donate $25 a year.

Clark said the City of Bay St. Louis contributes $25 per month to the chapter.

In other business, the board:

- Accepted a $4,926 bid by Covington Inc. of Gulfport for repairs of four catch basins and 610 feet of underground culvert on Lafitte Drive.

- Took under advisement a bid of $2,345 by C.C. Lynch and Associates for two waste water samplers.

- Took under advisement a bid of $13,206 by Bill Stroble from F.M.C. company and $10,900 from Nailer

Supply Company for a high velocity sewer cleaner.

Stroble attended the meeting and pointed out advantages of his company machine. Members of the board stepped outside to examine the sewer cleaner which was parked by the side of the City Hall.

Rebels edge Tigers 12-6 on last play of game

By Randy Ponder
Quarterback James White dived over the goal line as the final busser sounded, breaking a 6-6 tie, to give the Harrison Central Rebels a hard fought 12-6 victory over Bay Jr. High in the Tiger Booster Club's annual Mullet Bowl in Bay St. Louis Thursday night.

The winning drive was set up following a Tiger fumble at the 17 with only 21 seconds left in a game that appeared to be headed for an overtime period.

A fifty yard pass play accounted for the Rebels first touchdown near the end of the second quarter.

With the football at mid-field, Kevin Gamblin pulled in a short pass and broke free of a Tiger tackle and outran everyone into the endzone. The PAT was unsuccessful leaving the Rebels with a 6-0 lead.

Halftime activities included the presentation of the Mullet Bowl Court and the crowning of the 1980 queen, Ms. Stacy Carter.

The Bay Jr. High Band put on a halftime program that would make many senior high units envious.

The Tigers came roaring out in the second half and quickly scored to tie the game.

Following a Rebel punt, Mark Gambino returned the football to the Tiger 30.

Fullback Harold Gillum moved the ball to the Harrison Central 41 with four consecutive carries.

Quarterback Peter Bell then elected to run the football himself and galloped 41 yards for the score.

A two point conversion attempt failed, leaving the score knotted at six.

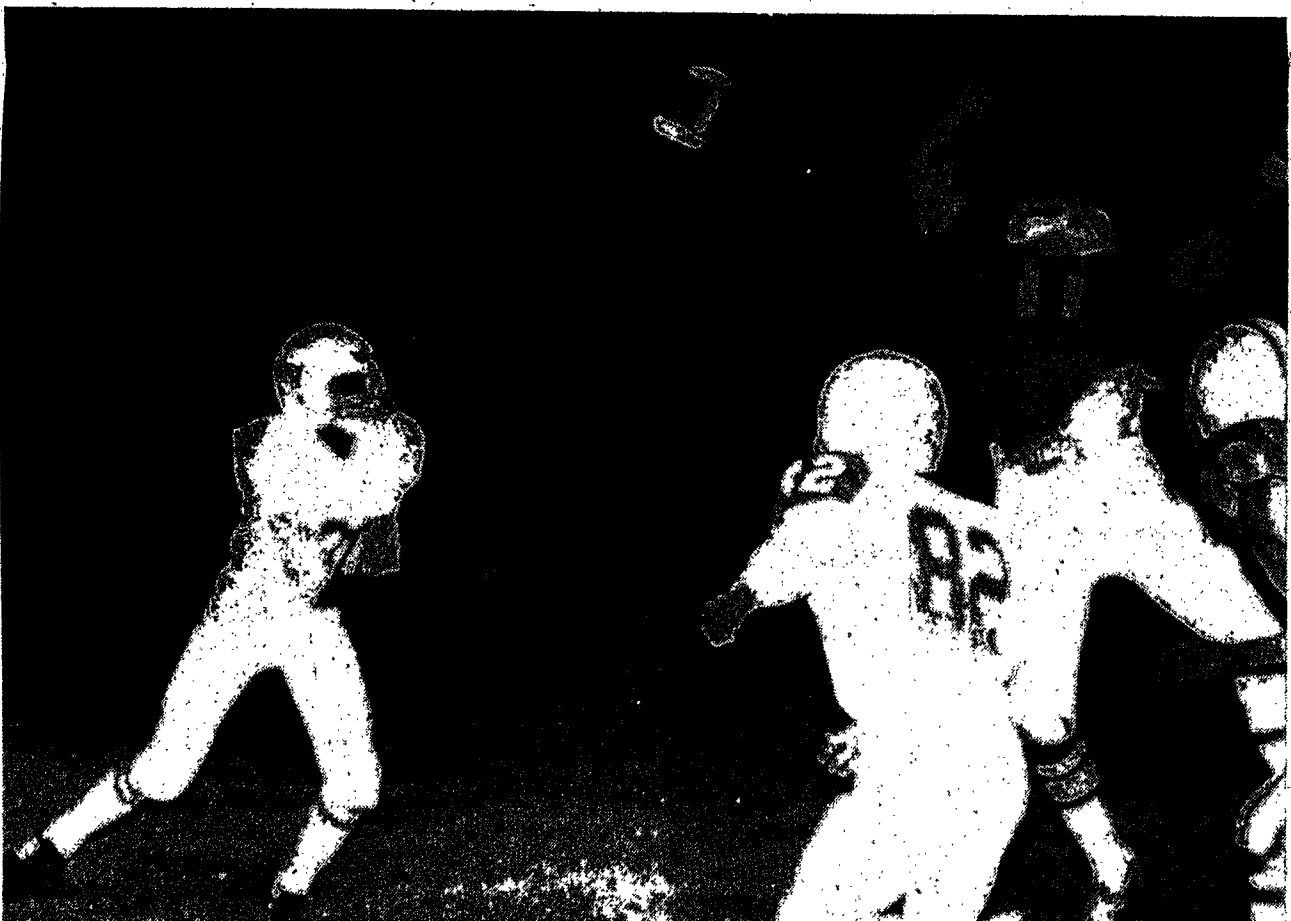

Late in the final period the Rebels marched from their 39 yard line to the Tiger's 15 before turning the ball over on downs.

The game seemed destined for overtime with only a few seconds on the clock and the ball in the Tiger's possession. Harrison Central came up with the big play, however, recovering the fumble that set up the Rebels winning touchdown on the last play of the game.

YOU TAKE IT! I'VE GOT IT!—Number 22 Tony Mannion of the Bay Jr. High Tigers and number 24 Kevin Gamblin of Harrison Central battle for the football. Gamblin ended up with the ball and raced 50 yards for a touchdown. The Rebels won the annual Mullet Bowl, 12-6. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

BREAKS UP PASS ATTEMPT—David McIver leaps high into the air to get a hand on the football and break up what could well have been a Harrison Central touchdown. The Rebels edged the Bay Jr. High Tigers 12-6, scoring the winning touchdown on the last play of the game in the annual Mullet Bowl. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

1980 MULLETT BOWL QUEEN—Stacy Carter, crowned queen of the 1980 Mullet Bowl by last year's queen, Ms. Paulette Shlyon. Ms. Carter, escorted by her father, earned the honor of queen by selling more tickets to the game than any of the other members of the court. The Mullet Bowl is sponsored by the Tiger Booster Club. This year Harrison Central defeated Bay Jr. High, 12-6. (Staff photo-Randy Ponder)

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Strong of Bay St. Louis, and the granddaughter of Mrs. Harry Carver and the late Mr. and Mrs. William D. Strong of Bay St. Louis.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Marks of Bay St. Louis.

The altar was adorned with arrangements of blue tinted crysanthemums. Pews were marked with white ribbon bows and blue sweetheart roses.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a formal gown of white sheerganza, fashioned with a lace bodice, Queen Anne neckline, lace bishop sleeves and a full bouffant skirt trimmed in large ruffles of chantilly lace at the hemline and forming a bustle effect to the back, with an attached chapel train. Her headpiece of chantilly lace held a two-tiered veil of bridal illusion.

She wore the wedding ring which belonged to her great-grandmother and carried an antique lace handkerchief. She carried a nosegay of white sweetheart roses, baby's breath, button mums, stephanotis interspersed with a touch of blue.

The bride was attended by Christine Verdon of Kenner, La. as maid of honor. She wore a formal gown of cotillion blue sheerganza, fashioned with princess neckline and bustle ruffled skirt, and carried an old fashioned nosegay of blue baby's breath, roses and button mums.

Kirk Alexander of Pensacola, Fla., brother of the groom, served as best man.

Ushers were Tommy Strong of Bay St. Louis, brother of bride, and Richard Ladner of Bay St. Louis.

A reception followed the ceremony at the church fellowship hall.

The mother of the bride chose for the occasion a light blue jersey gown fashioned with a draped neckline and fitted waist with appliques of venice lace. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The groom's mother was attired in a two-piece long sleeve dress with softfold sleeves in brown chiffon. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride's table held a three tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Myra Hirsius of Bay St. Louis. The table was adorned with a white hand-drawn lace antique table cloth, antique silver candlesticks, and garlands of blue-tipped white mums and fern.

Assisting at the reception were Mrs. Andrew Giveans, the bride's aunt; Mrs. Horatio Farve, the bride's great aunt; Mrs. Kenneth Carver, cousin of the bride; Mrs. Kirk Alexander, sister-in-law of the bride; and Mrs. Myra Hirsius.

Q. Under the new improved pension law, can a veteran who does not have custody of his child receive additional pension if the veteran is not paying child support?

A. No. Under the new improved pension law the veteran must be paying child support to be entitled to any additional allowance for a dependent child.

Q. I have a VA guaranteed home loan. I plan to sell my home to an individual who will assume the payments. Can I do this? Are there any special procedures I should follow?

A. Another individual may assume your loan. However, you should contact the nearest VA regional office to obtain a release of liability or you may be held liable in the event of default on the loan.

Q. I was denied widow's benefits from the Veterans Administration because I was never legally married to a veteran with whom I had lived for 20 years. What, if anything, can I do about this?

A. VA will recognize an established common law marriage if such marriage is recognized by the state in which the couple resides. Any VA regional office will provide information and advise veterans on the evidence required to establish a common law marriage.

PHOTOGRAPHY

"Nova" traces the history of photography from the early camera obscura to cinerography's revelations of behavior and processes at 8 p.m., Tuesday, December 2, on the Mississippi ETV Network. In the early nineteenth century, a subject had to pose absolutely still for two hours in order to have his photographic portrait taken. As artificial light sources were introduced, exposure times were reduced dramatically, and in 1884 Ernst Mach took the first pictures of a bullet in flight. By the 1930's, Dr. Harold Edgerton's invention of the stroboscope had revolutionized still photography. In "Moving Still," "Nova" explains how the technology was developed and shows the ways in which photographers "cheat" time by compressing days to seconds and expanding seconds to hours. The movement of a glacier, cell division in a rabbit egg, the anatomy of a tennis stroke and the sequence of a nuclear bomb blast are all events that elude analysis without the ingenious assistance of modern photography. "Nova" is closed-captioned for the hearing-impaired.

African missionary visits Bay's St. Rose De Lima

Story and Photos
By Catherine Lizana

Sr. Rose Martin Glenn, SSPS, a missionary from Ghana, West Africa recently visited St. Rose de Lima Parish in Bay St. Louis. Sr. Rose gave a slide presentation to the CYO on her work in Ghana.

For the past 13 years, Sr. Rose, the only black nun in the Order of The Holy Spirit, has been in Ghana where she works as a nurse in a small clinic.

"The nurses in Ghana act as doctors. We prescribe medicine and do just about anything a doctor might. Sometimes when a doctor makes a rare visit to a village we have to tell them what to do," Sr. Rose said.

Not all of the villages are fortunate enough to have a full time doctor. So a nurse has to be well trained.

Sister Rose was attending St. Elizabeth High School in Chicago when she "received her calling" to become a missionary.

As a convert from the Protestant faith, she had to undergo two years of special training.

Due to her young age, when she decided to join the convent Sister Rose had to receive permission from Church authorities.

After receiving this permission she entered the convent on the Feast of the Assumption in 1958.

"We always commemorate events on Feast Days so that we can remember them," she said. "June 24, 1961 I took my first vows and I completed my final vows on the Feast of the Epiphany."

In May, 1967 Sr. Rose received permission to go to Ghana, West Africa. On August 30, Feast of St. Rose de Lima, her patron saint, she arrived in Ghana.

Her first assignment was at a 125-bed hospital on night duty in maternity.

After one and a half years Sister Rose was transferred to Accra for 6 months where she worked at a school for girls.

From there she went to work among the Krobo people for 8 years.

Just prior to her arrival in the U.S., she worked in the small village of the Twi (tree) people.

Sr. Rose is on leave in the U.S. for 2 years during which time she plans to return to school and study tropical diseases, nursing, and maternity care.

When asked if she would go back to Ghana, Sr. Rose said that she would certainly return.

"I love Ghana very much and my work there. I will go back," she said.

Pulpit Points

BY DR. L.S. WALKER

GIVING THANKS is saying "I am thankful." Thankfulness was in a great measure the theme of praise in the Book of Psalms.

"O come, let us sing unto the Lord: let us make a joyful noise to the rock of our salvation. Let us come before his presence with thanksgiving, and make a joyful noise unto him with psalms" Ps. 95:1-2.

Profound gratitude for God's blessings so filled the hearts of our forebears that a national day of Thanksgiving has endured since long before the founding of this nation.

Ingratitude on the part of many in our generation has bred immorality, crime and lawlessness throughout our land.

Callous ingratitude, the Bible prophesies, will characterize the multitudes to produce the "perilous times" of the last days of the age - II Tim. 3:1-2.

The Spirit of Thanksgiving encompasses many principles and ideals which deserve daily as well as annual observance.

Certainly, Thanksgiving Day is a meaningful and cherished holiday, and it is right and wise that we have set aside a special occasion to acknowledge our blessings and good fortune.

In so doing, let us be continually grateful that we live in a land where people can still laugh, dream, hope, and speak their minds and worship as they wish.

Our Founding Fathers had a great vision. They saw for the future of our country a promise of hope, right, justice, freedom, and equality for men and women who braved the dangers to enjoy these blessings from God. And all but the most cynical would have to admit that our Nation has made extraordinary progress in striving for these goals.

No other country has ever done more to promote the spiritual needs of its people.

A noted American author and editor once stated, "There never was a land that better deserved the love of her people than America, and more especially, our faith in God."

There's an Answer!

by Norman Vincent Peale and Ruth Stafford Peale

Feels so alone

Q. I plan to leave my husband who has been unfaithful to me - once right in my presence! I shall never forget it. At age 38 I had a stroke, yet I've gone back to college. I do volunteer work and I love people. But I'm very unhappy. I'm an insomniac, hypertensive, have been on a dialysis machine for chronic kidney failure. I feel so alone and helpless at times. My husband is good to me, a good provider, but does not show the affection I need now. I think I'm a Christian, yet I can't seem to forgive people who have hurt me. Please tell me what to do.

A. As a Christian you must learn to forgive even an insensitive husband who has the colossal callousness to be unfaithful to you in your presence. He sounds like an incredible boor. But forgive the poor soul just the same. You will need to work on yourself to find peace within else your life will continue a misery. That is not necessary if you take charge of your thinking.

Everything backfires

Q. I have so many problems I don't know which one to write about. I have been on the verge of suicide many times. I look around and see these people who do not attend church and never do a favor for anyone, and they go on their merry way and are much happier than I. My faith has been destroyed by certain events in my life. I attend church regularly and have tried to be a good Christian, but it seems everything backfires on me. I would appreciate some comforting words before I reach the breaking point.

A. When one has so many problems, as you say you have, it suggests that there is one main problem. Problems are only pieces of the real problem. And that could be the problem of attitude. A negative and critical attitude can produce "additions" that seem to be backfires. Every point out. But if you empty your mind of those negative thoughts, your attitude will change.

Anyone interested in participating in a talent show sponsored by Mrs. Joan Mitchum should attend tryouts Tuesday in St. Rose cafeteria.

Mrs. Mitchum is St. Rose's candidate in a Mother of the Year contest sponsored by the Hancock County Branch NAACP.

Today at 3 p.m. St. Rose will have a special ceremony for anointing of the sick. Anyone suffering from a chronic illness, an infirmity and all senior citizens may receive this sacrament of healing and strength.

If transportation is needed please call Dr. Keller at 467-7347.

The Keester Soul Choir will be at Valena C. Jones United Methodist Church for their annual Homecoming Day. Everyone is invited to attend.

Thanksgiving Day there will be only a 9 a.m. Family Mass.

Merchants plans Gulfport Sears Building renovation

Merchants Bank and Trust Company plans new quarters in downtown Gulfport.

Renovations of the former Sears Roebuck Building on the corner of 25th Avenue and 13th Street are scheduled to begin within the next 10 days.

Guy C. Billups Jr., the bank's board chairman, said Roy Anderson Jr., Inc. will be general contractor.

The renovation will provide more than 20,000 square feet of operational area on two floors, with approximately the same amount of space allocated for tenants and future expansion.

The building's exterior will feature stucco embellishments and facade, and cast stone panels. Complementing the stone and stucco will be a dark umber stain on the remaining existing brick walls.

The interior will reflect the contemporary intent of the design, yet maintain a sense of the traditional with the use of warm colors in familiar yet updated patterns.

The teller stations pick up the classical clean rectilinear lines of the exterior facade.

Other features included in the renovation are a mail type entrance highlighted by a planted island surrounding an escalator to the second floor.

In addition, there will be employee and customer lounges, night depositories and off street parking for 48 automobiles.

Merchants Bank was organized in 1903 in Bay St. Louis and opened its doors in Gulfport in 1967.

Assets are now listed at $57 million.

W.R. Allison, bank president, said of the plans, "...we are pleased and proud to be able to start this program because it represents a step forward not only for Merchants Bank but for the community as well."

"The program indicates our faith in the future of downtown Gulfport. Although the new quarters will give us far more pleasant and cheerful working conditions, that was only one consideration in the decision to proceed. We did not look upon a new bank as a convenience, but rather a necessity. Our operations are expanding and we must adequately prepare to handle all new business," the official continued.

"New banking facilities will enable us to expand services presently available in the industry and to improve those we now have. The functional new quarters will make it more convenient to use our various departments and we are confident increased employee efficiency will enable us to offer better and more thorough service than ever before," Billups added.

"While construction progresses, bank business will go on as usual at our present facilities. As in the past, we will continue our efforts to serve Gulfport's financial needs with readily available services," he said.

The new facilities will take approximately seven to eight months to complete and will be financed with capital funds of the Merchants Bank and Trust Co. and without the assistance of federal or urban renewal funds, the spokesman reported.

Purity of language has 'flown the coop'

Television has had a tremendous impact on the English language. The computer age and even Watergate brought a whole new list of words and phrases into everyday use.

But, of all the outside influences on our language, the poultry and egg industry probably has made the most enduring contribution.

Joe Shipp, president of the Mississippi Poultry Association, lists 18 phrases he says are mainstays of modern-American usage.

For instance, what does the supervisor do who successfully manages to keep his workers at their tasks? According to Shipp's dictionary of "fowl" language, he "rules the roost."

The man who never totals his business profits before the final tallies are in, "never counts his chickens before they hatch."

When one farmer has a crop that outyields his neighbor, he "has something to crow about."

A husband who is nagged by his wife is "henpecked." How do your children feel when it has been raining for three days and they can't get outside? "Cooped up."

How many people have worked for an inadequate salary and called it "chicken feed"?

When people save for the future, they usually "store up a nest egg."

The company president yells at the vice president who yells at the secretary and soon you learn the "pecking order" around the office.

When crooks meet late at night and plan robberies, they usually "hatch a plot."

When your prize joke fails to bring a laugh, you have "laid an egg."

A big mistake made in life usually "comes home to roost."

The tour leader who keeps his group close by is called a "mother hen."

The man who thinks deeply and darkly about his bad circumstances is "brooding."

In these inflationary times, people who are having a tough time with their budgets are "scratching out a living."

The guy in the office with the rough personality and tough hide is often "hard-boiled."

When you are faced with introducing an untactful friend to other friends, you often are found to be "walking on eggs."

How do you tell your stock broker that you don't want him, investing your money in one enterprise? "Don't put all my eggs in one basket."

Finally, Shipp's fowl language dictionary lists at least one biblical admonition. "Which came first, the chicken or the egg?" To clarify the philosophy, Shipp suggests reading Genesis 1:19-24.

"People who can get all the poultry-related phrases correct have 'something to crow about,'" Shipp said.

"Those who get two-thirds correct are up with everyone else, but those who get less than one-third correct, 'better start getting up with the chickens.'"

CANCER Answerline

American Cancer Society

A regular feature prepared by the American Cancer Society, to help save your life from cancer.

Question: "If I find a lump in my breast, does that mean I have cancer?"

ANSWERline: Fortunately, most lumps in the breast are not cancerous. But only a physician can tell for sure, and he or she should be consulted as soon as possible if a lump is found. There is danger in delay. To treat and cure breast cancer, it is necessary to have an early diagnosis and prompt treatment.

Question: "What does 'risk' mean in relation to getting cancer?"

ANSWERline: It is the relative possibility that cancer may develop. When scientific studies show that a particular group of people have an above average rate of cancer, persons in that group are said to have an increased risk of the disease. The Society believes that more frequent examinations may be needed for persons considered to be at higher than normal risk for some cancers. High risk groups for breast cancer generally include women with personal and family histories of breast cancer. High risk indicators for cervical cancer include first intercourse at an early age and multiple sexual partners.

High risk for cancer of the womb includes obesity, a history of infertility, failure of ovulation, abnormal uterine bleeding, and estrogen therapy. People in any of these categories should consult their physicians for guidance.

Question: "Can I receive adequate cancer treatment in my neighborhood hospital?"

ANSWERline: All hospitals are not equipped to treat all kinds of cancer. The hospital must have an operating room, access to a laboratory for microscopic examination and diagnosis of tissue, and X-ray equipment for diagnosis and treatment. It must be staffed by physicians trained to make effective use of these facilities. Your physician, nearest medical society or American Cancer Society Unit can advise you locally.

YOU AND YOUR PET

PLAN FOR CHRISTMAS PUPPY
With Christmas but a few weeks away, now is a good time to give serious thought to a Christmas puppy, according to Dr. Charles Banta, director of the Alpo Center for Advanced Pet Study.

There are 120 different breeds of dogs recognized by the American Kennel Club. Breeds range from the tiny Chihuahua weighing from two to four pounds, up to the Great Dane which will stand two and one-half feet tall and weigh in at 130 pounds when fully grown.

What is the right breed for a family? Dr. Banta, gives this advice: "In the short run it is a matter of family preference. But consideration should be given to what size the dog will be when it is fully grown. All puppies are fun and a delight. Bear in mind, though, that today's roly-poly puppy can grow up to be a big dog in just a few months."

"The puppy will become a new member of the family. Who will care for and train the new puppy? What about housebreaking and training to the leash? This is essential if the puppy is to take its place as a member of the family, and not be a public nuisance."

"Dogs housed in city apartments must be walked at least twice a day. Suburban communities, for the most part, no longer allow dogs to roam free. Pets are a definite responsibility. The family must decide if it wants a large or small responsibility."

Finally, Dr. Banta adds, "Consult a breeder once the family has decided on a particular dog. Chances are that a veterinarian can recommend a breeder. Breeders are truly fond of their breeds. They know the breed when fully grown. The breeder can and will guide in pet selection, especially if this is the first puppy at home. A puppy's age is important. Puppies should be no younger than ten to twelve weeks old, according to Dr. Banta. The puppy should be strong, healthy and alert, and raised in a good kennel situation where the puppy has received love and care.

Veterinarians are important. Decide on a small animal veterinarian in your community. He can further advise the family on pet selection, and guide you on the vaccinations necessary to protect the puppy from diseases, proper feeding to keep the puppy happy, healthy and growing.

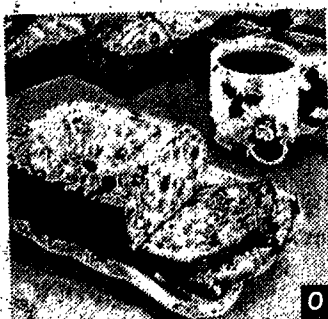

Many good books are available on the care and training of dogs and puppies. Breed books are also available on the history and growth of the breed. A family will do well to purchase one or more of these dog care books before the puppy comes home.

Alpo publishes, "Choosing the Right Pet", especially written for the prospective pet owner. The free booklet provides information on puppy selection and care, housebreaking, training, feeding, and necessary health check-ups by veterinarians. It can be ordered from Allen Products Company, Inc., Post Office Box 2187, Allentown, Pennsylvania 18001.

Bake a Christmas Loaf

For partytime or Christmas gift-giving, festive quick breads are delicious and easy to make. This recipe suitable for either large or small loaf pans, features a unique baking ingredient—peanut butter chips. These nutritious little chips, which supply protein, niacin and other nutrients, are made from real roasted peanuts. And they're so easy to work with, you'll want to make each of the four luscious breads listed here.

PEANUT BUTTER CHIP NUT BREAD
2 1/2 cups unsifted all-purpose flour
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1 tablespoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1 1/4 cups milk

Preheat oven to 350°. In large mixing bowl, combine dry ingredients. Add milk, vegetable oil and egg; beat just until combined. Stir in peanut butter chips, raisins and nuts. Pour batter into one 9x5x3-inch loaf pan (bake 55-65 minutes), or two 8 1/2x4 1/2x2 1/2-inch loaf pans (bake 55-60 minutes), or four 6 1/2x3 1/2x2 1/2-inch loaf pans (bake 45-50 minutes). Cool slightly; remove from pans. Cool completely before slicing. Wrap in aluminum foil or plastic wrap; store in refrigerator. (For following variations, use as above.)
Banana Nut Bread: Use only 1/2 cup milk; stir in 1 1/2 cups mashed, ripe banana (about 3 medium bananas).
Apricot Nut Bread: Stir in 1 cup chopped, dried apricots.

UNO fees hiked again

Fee increases were recently approved by the LSU Board of Supervisors to become effective with the 1981 summer session at the University of New Orleans.

George D. D'Aquin Jr., UNO vice chancellor for business affairs, said the university fee is being increased $16 for full-time summer students and $25 per semester beginning with the 1981-82 fall semester.

The new UNO fees, which are "still considerably below the national average," says D'Aquin, are as follows:

Summer, full-time undergraduate and graduate, $205 for Louisiana residents, $460 for non-resident undergraduates and $325 for non-resident graduate students. Fall and Spring semesters, $312 for full-time Louisiana undergraduate and graduate students. Fall and spring semester fees for full-time non-residents will be $827 for undergraduates and $612 for graduate students.

Fee increases were also approved for seven other LSU System units, throughout the state.

Blessey pre-files kindergarten bill

Representative Gerald Blessey of Biloxi reports he has pre-filed for the 1981 Legislative Session a bill to permit local school districts to finance kindergartens under the Minimum Foundation Program for education.

"Statewide kindergartens will benefit the overall educational achievement of future generations of Mississippians," Blessey said.

"Education is the hope of the future for jobs and a higher standard of living in our state, and kindergartens, properly financed and professionally operated by our public school systems, will pay-off through better prepared students all the way through school," he feels.

The estimated cost for financing kindergartens statewide is between $25 and $30 million annually.

Blessey said his proposal would be implemented in phases over a four-year period, at less than $10 million a year.

"This amount represents less than one percent of our overall-state budget. I believe that further cuts in waste and inefficiency in the state government would permit us to finance kindergartens out of our existing budget," he explained.

"This year is the year to work on this issue since the Governor's Special Committee on School Finance and Administration will recommend a number of comprehensive changes in the financing of schools," he pointed out.

"My Bill will implement the proposed kindergarten financing as recommended by the Committee."

"This Bill would provide state payment to local school districts for each teacher unit of kindergarten level which is determined at the rate of 1½ teacher units for each 25 pupils in average daily attendance until 1984 at which time it will become 1½ teacher units for each 20 pupils in average daily attendance," he continued.

Blessey said a sound kindergarten system for the general public is essential to renewing emphasis on basics of reading, writing, and arithmetic.

"In the recent past it has been difficult for the average working family to afford kindergartens. Some help has been available to the poor through Headstart and some private kindergartens do exist for those who can afford them; but generally, most families have found it difficult to pay for private kindergartens."

"Yet we know that a good kindergarten preparation helps a student get a good start in reading, writing, and arithmetic in elementary grades, which form the basic skills for the rest of their lives," Blessey stated.

"I believe the public wants less money spent on frills and wasteful programs and more spent on essential government services like education. A kindergarten system in Mississippi schools would be a good investment of the taxpayers' money," the legislator feels.

retrieve a ball from a pond — and the older, a nine year old brother, failed in an attempt to rescue his little brother.

Safety specialists see a tragic thread of truth entwined through most if not all of the accidents each year — which is that accidents prey mostly on those who let their common sense guard down even for a moment and either knowingly or unknowingly submit themselves to a potential risk. Then the percentages take their grisly toll.

CREATIVE IDEAS IN WOOD

There are hundreds of games and game boards to play them on. Kalaha is a new game to Americans, but it's been played for seven thousand years in Asia and Africa.

The game is played by moving Mississippians died of playing pieces from pit to pit — with eight of 14 pits in all, routed in the game these in farm ponds. Fourteen persons succumbed as a result of tractor mishaps with overturned tractors causing half of those fatalities.

Next in line as the most demanding grim reaper was falling objects — mally trees which fell on and crushed seven victims. Accidental gunshots claimed another seven persons while three others died of gunshots that were not described as accidental by coroners' juries. Two of these cases involved robberies while a third involved a law enforcement officer shot in the line of duty in a rural area.

Asphyxiation claimed six victims during 1979 with four of them, each in their twenties, dying of carbon monoxide poisoning. Two elderly housewives died of smoke inhalation. One young male worker died from inhalation of poisonous gas.

So-called freak accidents continued into 1980 with reports already this year indicating that one adult has died from a cat bite, another from mistaking a can of antifreeze for a beverage, and a youngster being struck by a baseball bat during a Little League ball game.

The 1979 survey revealed that two men accidentally electrocuted themselves, another died in a dynamite explosion, and a lady was fatally burned in a canning accident.

Farm and forestry machinery claimed a few victims in bizarre incidents. A policeman by profession was fatally caught in a hay baler. A student was snatched up by a combine. And out on the woodlot a pulpwood worker died when a tree skidder went out of control.

The incidents of drownings sprang from diverse circumstances. One man was trying to retrieve a boat from the Mississippi River. Another topped off a barge. Two small children compounded tragedy when the younger, only four years of age, attempted to Question: Routing hollows in boards is easy, but handsanding the inside surfaces is not. Is there an easier way?

Indeed there is. Simply make a negative 1/16" to 1/8" smaller than the inside dimensions of the object you wish to sand. Glue sandpaper to the negative and it will sand the bottom and side surfaces fast and complete.

We're glad to answer wood-working questions from readers. Write us at our Vandalia address, and please enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope to help facilitate a quick reply.

County Agent's Notes

by John Smith

ELAUATE FIELDS

County agent John Smith recommends, "During harvest, make a note of fields with obvious problem areas. These may include special weed problems, drainage problems and other situations that may require follow-up soil testing, fertilization or tillage treatments."

"From your notes, you can develop maps for field-by-field evaluations of production problems, causes and solutions. You'll have all winter to plan and correct the problems," he adds.

COVER CROPS

"October and November are excellent times to establish wild winter peas, vetch or cereals for winter cover and a green manure crop to turn under next spring," says County Agent John Smith.

Peas or vetch will add organic matter plus 40 to 60 pounds of nitrogen per acre. Cereal crops like wheat and rye provide organic matter only, Smith cites.

"These green manure crops build organic matter only temporarily, but they may be of great value in improving herbicide performance and soil tilth in the following growing season," Smith says.

God grants us only one mother Here on earth, So love her while she's near, For when God calls her home, It's too late to love her here. Sadly missed by your daughter
